

NUA Naturals

NUA Naturals is bursting onto the UK health food scene with its refreshing range of organic, vegan, super foods.

NUA Naturals is an Irish health food business at the cutting edge of the global trends of 'Raw Food,' 'Gluten Free,' and 'Vegan.' They're lovers, suppliers and artisan producers of organic health foods with a growing international reach.

Founded in 2011 as 'Ireland's Raw Kitchen,' the company has become the latest successful business to make waves in the natural food industry. Coinciding with an image makeover, NUA Naturals has recently entered international markets, including the UK.

The company sells everything from Goji berries and Vanilla, to handmade hot chocolates and Supergreens blended with probiotics.

Embracing innovation, NUA Naturals are set to add a host of new products to their already impressive 40 plus range that will hit the UK market by August.

"We always live by our message 'One Change, Big Difference'," says Sales Manager, Niall Fennell. "We encourage our customers to introduce one product to their diets to see what difference it makes to them. We don't want new consumers to overpower their body, but rather take things slow and notice a real difference."
